EDITORIAL.

Because of color segregation which prevents Dr. C. V. Hinds from living in a suitable house in Trenton, N. J., we will remove from that city.

Uncle Isham Griffin of Chattanooga has records to show that he is 105 years old. He is older than the telephone, the phonograph, the motion picture, the telegraph or the fireless cooker.

President Wilson has written a note to Major R. R. Moten congratulating him upon his appointment to the principality of Tuskegee. It is hoped that Major Moten will so conduct himself that in case he should die the president will be sorry.

Of the sixty-one lynchings in 1915, fourteen were white men and three were colored women. Only eleven of the number were accused of rape and four of these were afterwards found to be not guilty, a serious defect in the southern plan of administering punishment in advance of trial.

The appalling accident of last Sunday morning, in which a whole crowd of people were run down by a speeding automobile is only relieved by the fact that the driver was not a Negro. Yet it should be an example to all colored drivers who are ever tempted to drink or dally with bad women, while in charge of their employers' property.

The better class of people in Kansas City are tired of the rule of graft and crime which has marked this community for the last two years, but by dividing their support between the two old parties and the two new parties of the Star and the Post they will end up just where they are now. The repeaters and pie followers will get together just as they have always done and the Democrats will win.

THEY SAY

—That the wages of sin is death and I believe it, too.

—That if you don't advertise your business you'll soon have no business to advertise.

—That if you can make it through this weather with R. V. S.'s and low cuts, you can live always.

—That one old brother was heard to exclaim: "Don't care nothin' about chicken, just give me chin bones."

—That one poor sinner who has been attending the revival until the cold snap, when asked by a good brother if he was going to attend the meeting a very cold night this week, replied, "No, I've done asked the Lawd to excuse me tonight." Wonder if he'll excuse him when he goes to die?

—That a certain brother who came up from Louisiana on the excursion last summer was standing on the corner last Thursday morning when the thermometer was 20 below zero, singing to the top of his voice, "Let me go, let me go, let me go back home to Dixie." And when the police came and took him away and put him in the station house where it was nice and warm, all they could get him to say was, "Let me go back home to Dixie." Well, this cold weather will make you do most anything you are not used to.

TUSKEGEE NEGRO CONFERENCE TO BE HELD JAN. 19, 1916.

In order to put new life into the Tuskegee Negro conference, Booker T. Washington's last suggestion to the conference committee was that there should be a variation of the usual program. Accordingly, the exercises to be had at the conference at Tuskegee Institute on Jan. 19, 1916, will be very much different from former programs.

The regular conference session, instead of convening at 10 o'clock a. m. as formerly, will be held in the chapel in the afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock and continuing until 4 o'clock. The main topics to be discussed by visitors and delegates will be: (1) "How I Am Managing to Keep Ahead of the Bull Weevil"; (2) "Crop Diversification"; and (3) "How Our Community Built a Schoolhouse."

To all this will be added special addresses by experts. Members of the United States department of agriculture, the governor and other state officials of Alabama, and members of the Auburn college staff will be specially invited to be present.

The workers' conference will be held in the academic assembly room on January 20, from 10:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. The subject will be: "The Better Housing of Negroes." The topic will be divided into two parts: (1) Urban or City Housing Conditions, and (2) Rural Housing Conditions. Under the first will be discussed: (a) Housing Conditions and the Urban Death Rate for Negroes; (b) Some Examples of What Is Being Done to Improve Urban Housing Conditions; and (c) Agencies Which Can Assist in Improving Urban Housing Conditions.

Under "Rural Housing Conditions" will be discussed: (a) Housing Conditions and the Rural Death Rate for Negroes; (b) Housing Conditions and the Rural Labor Supply; and (c) Agencies Which Can Assist in Improving Rural Housing Conditions.

Health demonstrations will be held by Tuskegee Institute health department.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Mr. A. Frank Neal, formerly a manager of the Paseo Y. M. C. A., now residing in Salt Lake City, Utah, will make a few remarks at the Men's meeting, Sunday.

Dr. L. E. Haller, L. A. Knox and Dr. J. E. Perry were nominated at the member's meeting Thursday, December 11, to succeed themselves for the next three years, to fill the positions of managers.

New faces are showing up constantly in the gymnasium classes and each member is enthusiastic about his work. Zero weather outside is no proof against the comfort of the Y. M. C. A. The weather effects the attendance very little.... The boys that went to "Camp Inspiration" last summer had a camp reunion last Friday night. After singing the camp songs and doing the camp stunts all over again, each boy received his honor blank from camp last year. Each boy had with him a boy friend who enjoyed the camp song "Sal Jones" as much as the campers. The boys are asking of the coming summer camp already.

Six men making decisions to live the Christian life, was the result of the men's meeting on last Sunday, addressed by Rev. S. L. Howard, secretary of the Evangelistic Bureau of the A. M. Church. The address, "Seeking the Right Way," was replete with illustrations that went directly to the hearts of the men. When the invitation was given to those who wanted to see the right way, through the help of Christ Jesus, six clean-cut decisions were the result. Two of these men are to connect with Allen Chapel, one with Ebenezer and one with the Vine Street Church. Two were undecided as to which church they would connect themselves.... Next Sunday a meeting that is expected to eclipse all former men's meetings is planned by the churches and the association. A thousand men in attendance is the goal of this meeting. The manner in which the high school boys are taking old of the class work in the gymnasium is highly gratifying to the boys' work and the physical directors, and this branch

TABLE TALK.

By BENJ. V. LONGDON.

"I des won't try to reason out De reason why folks strive an' plan A dinnah fu' a full fed man. An' shet do do an' cross de street From one dat really needs to eat."

Doubtless my companion felt justified in quoting from Dunbar's "De Way Things Come," while unfolding his napkin at the home of Deacon Jones last Sunday evening. We readily confess that lovers of poetry are as men entranced by the melody of an unseen musician, who feel they are moved and softened, yet know not whence or why. But the whence or why is this: Poetry is written for its message for the truth that it can kindle into a glow of beauty and truth.

Intellectual, quick to catch the color of other times and places, finding meaning in all the facts of life, able to seize at once upon what is dramatic and significant in any situation, for readers who are prepared to acknowledge kinship with them, poets have more of refreshing and quickening power than any class of writers. When we think of Mrs. Katherine Tillyman, Mr. Charles Starks and Mr. Roscoe Jamison and their poetic work, here comes over us a wish for the ability to express all that we think and feel. Mr. Longfellow quotes one "A poet? Why man, that is as much as one should say. A poet!" But nonetheless we like to say what this trio means to us. And when we know members of our race so consummate in poetic abilities the wish to speak our full appreciation becomes almost an irresistible command. Yet some one may ask: Why this high appreciation of them? Because we are told that all men need the aid of poetry as a refuge against work and care and routine, as a witness to the reality of their highest hopes. The love of man for woman, of the mother for the child, of friend for friend; the passion for freedom, justice, truth, nature, beauty, country; the care for the unfortunate, the search for the ideals—these emotions,

$20,000 GIVEN TO THE OLD CITY HOSPITAL.

By way of celebration of the passing of the city bonds and the good that will result therefrom for the old city hospital, the mayor was entertained at that institution Saturday evening with a "possum" supper. Other guests were the members of the hospital and health board, the health commissioner, the superintendent of the general hospital, city comptroller, the mayor's secretary. The "possum" was accompanied by such delicacies as sweet potatoes and pumpkin pie that served to make it a real Southern repast. The hospital staff is very jubilant over the fact that instead of the seven thousand dollars originally asked for through the earnest solicitation of Dr. Thompson and the efforts of Mr. Finn, president of the hospital and health board, the city comptroller succeeded in raising that amount to twenty thousand dollars. This sum will mean the accomplishment of many improvements to the advantage of our people, some of which are grantitold walks from the street to all the buildings, electricity in the nurses' home, an X-ray machine, the conversion of all the porches into storerooms, which will mean the accommodation of one hundred more beds, the remodeling of the tuberculosis pavilion and the transference of all such patients there; a completely equipped children's ward, linoleum for all the wards and hardwood floors for the halls; besides complete redecoration of the building, passenger elevator installed in the building. It is expected that all this will be completed before the meeting here next summer of the National Medical Association.

REV. SISTER PEARL, D. D., the forceful and tireless missionary worker spent a delightful Christmas and New Year with her sister, Mrs. Grace L. Clark, 1931 McGee street, and with her many other friends in the city. Sister Pearl received many nice presents from friends both in and out of the city. She left here January 5 in answer to a call in Battle Creek, Mich., where she will conduct a series of meetings. Reservation and traveling expenses were forwarded her and her lady traveling companion, Sister Pearl is an extensive traveler and her noble work and achievements for good have merited fame and admiration from some of the foremost men and women and not unfrequently whites to whom she has preached. The following are some forceful and helpful Scripture lessons which Sister Pearl would be pleased to have her many friends read while thinking of her: Luke 9: 49, 50; Matthew 23: entire chapter.
